

Dear Wizard,

I regret to inform you that a dark wizard launched an attack on Crestwood Academy overnight. While you and all of the other apprentice wizards slept, other wizards and I were busy trying to defend the attack, but we were not successful. This means that all of your classes will be suspended until further notice. If we want to take back the academy, we will need to cast a very powerful spell on it. There are 8 very important potions that are needed for this spell. They are hidden all around the island and it is your job to find them. Whichever wizard finds all 8 of the potions and delivers them to me will go down in history as the rescuer of Crestwood Academy.

Sincerely,

Willard the Wizard
