A hand-drawn diagram on a white sheet of paper, likely representing the side of a hat. The diagram is bounded by a thick red line that forms a shape with a curved top and bottom edge and a straight right edge. A thin blue line follows the same path as the red line but is slightly offset inward. The text 'back edge' is written in blue ink along the upper-left curved portion of the red line. The text 'Side of Hat' is written vertically in blue ink in the center of the diagram. The text 'front edge' is written in blue ink along the lower-left curved portion of the red line.
